Cities of India in Turmoil, Protesting Arrest of Nehru

NEW DELHI, (CP)—India's major cities Friday were in turmoil with demonstrations and strikes protesting the arrest of Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress party leader.

Bombay was virtually a dead city as 50,000 workers staged a strike, the stock exchange and bazaar markets closed, workers walked out of the Royal Mint, two railway shops closed, shopkeepers shut their stores and students boycotted university lectures.

All markets in Karachi, Calcutta and Madras were closed and in Calcutta the transport system was stopped by a strike.

Several persons were injured during a demonstration in which police used tear gas at Madras, southern India.

Nehru was arrested Thursday authorities of the princely state of Kashmir. He was denied a bail against his entering that northernmost territory of India to defend Sheikh Abdullah and others accused of sedition in connection with a revolt against the Hindu maharajah, Sir Hari Singh.

Nehru, president-designate of the rival Congress party and president of the All-India Peoples' States Conference of which Abdullah is a member, was reported still in Kashmir but reports conflicted whether he had been released from custody.

The bonds in denominations of $5, $10, $20 and $100, will be on sale this fall when the Ninth Victory Bond bond payments are completed and the sale of war savings certificates discontinued.

"The exact rate of interest and the maturity date of these (Canada) bonds cannot yet be announced but I can say that the terms will be more favorable than those existing for comparable investments at the time of issue," said Mr. Layton.

Man to Face Trial In Winnipeg Death

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Lawrence Deacon, charged with the murder of taxi-driver Johann Johnson March 31, was committed for trial at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing here.

Deacon was found slugged to death and a newspaper-wrapped body, 18 inches long, is believed to have been the victim.

Sgt. James Robinson, R.C.M.P., said the body was found lying on a street, slung from a hanging in Deacon's clothes closet.

A bombshell was dropped in the hearing when Mrs. Helen Berard, crown witness, testified Deacon was not the man she saw in the back seat of the cab when she noticed the driver lying down in the front.

This Windsor Daily Star photo shows the tornado as it struck the city's outskirts Tuesday evening and killed 15 persons. About 200 people were left homeless after the twister roared into Canada from Michigan. Four persons are in serious condition and 24 still are receiving hospital treatment. Seldom has such a graphic picture been taken of a tornado as it crashed through a city.

Edmonton Area Takes Lead; West Crops In Shot Blade

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Crops in the Edmonton district are reported to be in better condition than in most areas, according to reviews of conditions issued Friday by the C.N.R. and C.P.R.

The amount of moisture received in central Alberta has been equal to that given elsewhere a great deal of time. All crops appear healthy with little damage from any source.

In the Peace River districts, prospects continue good though further rains would be beneficial.

Grain is showing in the shot-blade in all prairie provinces, according to the C.P.R. report. Growth is reported higher than at the same time last year.

The C.N.R. report indicates prospects are bright for a better-than-average yield in western Canada. Average height of wheat is about five inches.

Plan Top Priority To Help Veterans

OTTAWA, (CP)—Plans to give veterans top priorities in purchasing farm machinery and surplus war assets through regular channels Thursday were placed before the veterans' committee of the commons by J. S. Crawford, federal minister of veterans' affairs.

He suggested it was feasible for veterans to receive a certificate of need and identification to be recognized as a binding and primary by dealers in new handling the trucks, tractors and automobiles turned over by War Assets Corporation. Repeated complaints have been heard against the present loose system of priority for veterans.

Edmonton Youth, 19, Ponoka Tot Victims

An Edmonton youth and a Ponoka child are dead as the result of traffic accidents Thursday and in a third collision a 16-year-old city cyclist was seriously injured.

DEAD:
Thomas Gilligan, 19, of 12428 66 st.
Albert Isaac, three, Ponoka.

INJURED:
Maurice Phalempin, 16, of 9537 100A st.

Gilligan, a garage mechanic at Scott's Garage for the past three years, was killed almost instantly when he was hurled to the pavement Thursday when his motorcycle collided with an R.M.P. truck.

Little Albert Isaac lost his life when he tried to cross the main street at Ponoka with his six-year old sister at the noon hour. He was struck by a car said to have been driven by Vernon Erickson and died almost instantly. His sister was unhurt.

Phalempin suffered a fractured jaw, a broken nose and fractured hand and had four teeth knocked out when his bicycle was in collision with a truck allegedly driven by Cecil Radke, 10646 109 st., at 97 ave. and 100A st.

Gilligan was riding a motorcycle east on 104 ave. when he crashed into the right front fender of the R.C.M.P. truck which was turning south on 107 st. The youth was hurled over the truck's hood. The truck, driven by Harold McCready, 9538 107A ave., had been proceeding west on 104 ave.

Great Williams and Robert McCormick, employees of the Miracle service station on the southeast corner of the intersection, immediately called city police and Smith's ambulance to the scene. The motorcycle rider was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

A coroner's jury is expected to assemble Friday for a preliminary inquest into the death.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Andrews-McLaughlin, funeral directors.

Phalempin was knocked from his cycle at the intersection of 97 ave. and 100A st. The youth is said to have ridden directly in front of the truck from the east sidewalk of 100A street while the vehicle was proceeding east on 97 ave.

He was rushed to hospital by a United taxicab. Hospital authorities Friday reported his condition "satisfactory."

Commons Votes 107 to 22 For Redistribution of Seats

OTTAWA, (CP)—The long, bitter battle over the government's plan to change the basis of common representation and increase the membership from 245 to 260 ended Thursday night as the far-reaching proposal won approval by a 107-22 vote.

Now destined for study in the senate, the plan was adopted after the membership of the commons and the senate to request from the British parliament an amendment to the British North America act to give constitutional force to the proposal, which would increase the membership of the commons by one seat, Quebec by eight, Ontario by one and British Columbia by two.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan would have no representation under the proposal, which would be accompanied by a bill to amend the British North America act to give constitutional force to the proposal, which would increase the membership of the commons by one seat, Quebec by eight, Ontario by one and British Columbia by two.

Under the proposal, provincial representation would be as follows: Prince Edward Island 4 (4); Nova Scotia 4 (4); New Brunswick 4 (4); Quebec 7 (6); Ontario 8 (8); Manitoba 16 (17); Saskatchewan 16 (17); British Columbia 18 (18); and Yukon 1 (1).

A Progressive Conservative amendment was based on the argument that the commons should not seek amendment to the constitution without first consulting the provinces. The commons did not accept the amendment.

Part of the increase was allowed to offset losses suffered by the commons during the 30-day strike. O.P.A. expects to announce next week a price increase averaging $1 a ton for hard coal, used generally for home-heating. This will also offset anthracite miners pay raises.

Government supporters, led by Justice Minister St. Laurent, argued that the general authority did not derive its power from the provinces. Thus the dominion did not need to obtain their consent to constitutional amendment when the change did not concern them directly, he said.

The voting also was featured by the defeat of a motion to amend the constitution by James Sinclair, (Lib., Vancouver North) which proposed that the commons be placed under the government, and the ruling out of a motion by P.E.I. member William W. Irvine, (C.P. Carleton) which would have placed the commons under the Northwest Territories to one member.

Mr. Sinclair's proposal would have resulted in a house membership of 251. This would have been accompanied by a bill to amend the constitution by James Sinclair, (Lib., Vancouver North) which proposed that the commons be placed under the government, and the ruling out of a motion by P.E.I. member William W. Irvine, (C.P. Carleton) which would have placed the commons under the Northwest Territories to one member.

Arabs Demanding Liberty for Mufti

CAIRO, (CP)—Twenty thousand Arabs who gathered for noon prayers at Al Azhar mosque Friday heard Ahmed el Sukary, vice-president of the Muslim Brotherhood association, declare that the refusal to grant Mufti of Jerusalem "should be granted his liberty."

Ahmed el Sukary praised as a "great Arab leader" the mufti who has escaped from France and has been granted sanctuary in Egypt.

The speaker took exception to Mufti Amin el-Husseini's statement Thursday night that the spiritual leader of Palestine Arabs was expected to keep out of controversial political activities while entering the Egyptian hospital traditionally accorded political refugees.

The mufti is accused by the British of fomenting the long series of Arab outbreaks from 1936 to 1939 and of broadcasting anti-British propaganda for Germany to the Arab world.

Dozen Nazis Still at Large

TORONTO, (CP)—More German prisoners of war were being hunted in Canada Friday than at any time since they were interned in the dominion.

Despite several recent captures, more than 12 Nazis are still at large in Ontario and one official estimated 40 are on the loose across the country.

The increase in the number of escapes is attributed to transfer of German prisoners from the internment camps to farms where they are allowed considerable freedom.

Big Four Discuss Future of Trieste

PARIS, (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers, after successfully hurrying a major accord by virtually reaching a compromise on Italian colonies, turned Friday to the controversial question of Trieste.

Along with Trieste, they must decide the entire Italian-Yugoslav frontier question and the matter of the Dodecanese islands. All four nations are involved in the dispute. The islands should go to Greece, but Russian Foreign Minister, Vyacheslav Molotov, said the past that his country is not yet ready to discuss this.

The question of Trieste promises to be the most controversial. Russia has insisted that the important Trieste port be under Yugoslav, British, France and the United States have maintained it must remain Italian.

British Wheat Deal Said 'Satisfactory'

By Torchy Anderson

OTTAWA, (AP)—When John Strachan, British minister of food, returned to Ottawa next week it is likely, it was said, that he would return on a long-term contract for the purchase of Canadian wheat.

A high standing participant in the negotiations, Lord Southam, British minister of agriculture, was expected to be reached in the immediate future on a basis satisfactory to Canada.

The best guess seems to be that a four-year-term will be decided upon and a price not less than $1.50 a bushel, less 10 per cent. at the head-of-the-lake-price of Canadian wheat, was expected to be reached.

Loot estimated at more than $2,000 was obtained by a car prowler who broke into a vehicle on the Royal George hotel parking lot and made off with two suitcases belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane of Fairbanks, Alaska, early Thursday.

Prepare World's Fair Site For U.N. General Assembly

NEW YORK—(NANA)—Hundreds of workers are preparing the grounds of the old world of tomorrow at Flushing Meadows Park for the site of the new world of tomorrow, who meet here in September.

After six years of desolation, the dead and stone on the location of the old World's Fair was being refurbished in a rapid style to prepare the park for its new tenants—the United Nations General Assembly.

The fair grounds are being cleared and the assembly meeting hall prepared at a cost of $2,313,860 to its donor—the city of New York. It is not anticipated that the public will flock to view the entire U.N. in operation in anything like the droves which crowded the World's Fair grounds 43,000,000 times; but the Long Island railroad prepared for any contingency by rebuilding the platform which was used when the fair was in full swing.

A visitor to Flushing Meadows Park would find it hard to believe a large sign in front of the World's Fair New York City building which reads: "To be completed in August, its doors will be so much work still to be done."

The conversation of the new building into an auditorium for the 51-nation assembly, with attached offices, lounge, committee rooms and cafeteria is progressing with more than 200 workmen busy on the project.

Landscaping of the ground, overgrown with weeds since the October, 1940 seems to present the biggest difficulty, although that too, is scheduled to be finished on August 15. About 100 workmen are toiling on the grounds—cutting grass, laying out extravagant flower beds, pruning and planting trees and trimming hedges.

The scene of the heaviest activity by gardeners is the circular pool located in front of the former site of the trion and periscope. The pool is being filled in to make a garden 310 feet in diameter which will be planted with late-flowering plants and surrounded with the flags on the 51 nations.

Many flowers already have been planted, and when the delegates to the Assembly arrive in September they will see almost 45,000 flowers in full bloom. In the gardens will be geraniums, Petunias, antonias and Marigolds arranged in pleasing color schemes.

Renovation of the 410-foot city building, which recently was used as a skating rink, is costing $1,410,000. The building is being divided into two equal parts. In the north side will be the auditorium, seating approximately 2,500. A balcony around the meeting hall will be for press, radio television services. The south side will be for conference rooms and offices.

Regular Dining Room

Near what used to be the Rose Court, directly north of the main building, a cafeteria and restaurant are being constructed. The cafeteria in this annex will be for the press, public and U.N. employees. In contrast to the setting at Hyde Park, the delegates and their staffs, expected to total about 510 persons, will eat in a regular dining room.

The heat of Indian summer will be combated by an air-cooling system plant which made ice for skating.

Not all the park is being restored, and large sections of it remain de-colate, weed-covered and forgotten. The portion being restored and completed was the main exhibition area of the fair.

Girls 'Yodel, Call Police

Southern yodeling of two young women is believed by police to have been responsible for a flood of telephone calls at police headquarters about 3:10 a. m. Thursday that sent police prowler cars rushing to the low level bridge.

Several residents living in Ross flats phoned police that a woman was "screaming" near the north end of the bridge. The "screams" were also heard by several taxi drivers near the Macdonald.

Police inquiries revealed that two young women were walking south across the bridge about the time of the alleged screams and their singing and yodeling are believed to have been responsible for the reports.

First Livestock On Alaska Road

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, (CP)—Two Spokane families have arrived in Anchorage after traveling the Alaska highway with the first livestock known to have come over the difficult route.

They reported it was like carnival day when they showed up along the wilderness route with a cow, a calf and 40 chickens.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Clark Peterson and three children, bound for a homestead near here, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cruger and daughter, who provided a house trailer for the trip. Peterson had a truck and trailer for the livestock.

Peterson estimated 1,500 people turned out to see them milk the cow during the two days' stop at Whitehorse, where a cow never before had been seen.

Peat Wastes May Produce Rubber

MOSCOW—(NANA)—Gas is being used on an increasingly wide scale in Soviet industry today. In addition, vast and seemingly inexhaustible supplies of peat and oil shale deposits found near the city of Odov and in Koshonia are being used as fuel for power stations and metallurgical works. Various projects for the utilization of wastes left after peat and oil shale have been put to rest, are being discussed in scientific circles here.

One group of chemists, headed by Prof. Smirnov, has submitted an interesting proposal to manufacture rubber from peat and oil shale waste. Peat tar obtained from coking or gasification processes, resembles coal tar in many ways. Experiments conducted by Smirnov and his assistants have resulted in the extraction of gasoline and a distillable alcohol from the peat residue rubber. Smirnov and his group propose that factories for tires purities as well as from oil-shale tar.

Judge Says Canada Was Betrayed By Fred Rose Under Cover Name

MONTREAL (CP) -- Under a cover name, Fred Rose, 38-year-old Labor Progressive M.P. for Montreal-Cartier, had betrayed his land of adoption, Mr. Justice Macleod told Rose Thursday when he sentenced him to six years in penitentiary on a charge of conspiring to send information illegally to Russia.

As he pronounced sentence, the judge said to Rose:

"Nobody can be blamed but yourself."

"I do not know if you have fully realized the gravity of the crime of the offense which you have committed. I think you know perfectly well the importance and the consequences of your work. You have been described as one of the ringleaders knowing the functions you were fulfilling, your associates in this organization must have ascribed to you a high rank and a key task. At any rate, the crime you have committed is very serious."

"You were born a foreigner, brought here, I am told, poor and miserable and I don't say that to offend you or anyone else, but contrary to what you were told it was your situation when you arrived," he continued.

"Not only have the conditions prevailing in this country made you happy and prosperous, but citizens of this city have elected you to a position of honor and high responsibility, a member of our parliament."

"Instead of showing a deep gratitude to this country, you were ready and willing to sacrifice its interest and safety and give your loyalty to a foreign land. Even if you were sincere, which I doubt, this way of thinking and feeling is not normal and cannot be tolerated."

"Under a cover name, you have betrayed your land of adoption and the country which has given you a new life."

Last Unit of Canadian Army In Netherlands Is Disbanded

LONDON (CP) -- With the withdrawal of the Canadian army occupation force and the closing Thursday of the Amsterdam Inquiry Section, the last unit of the Canadian forces in the Netherlands to be disbanded, remaining troops on the continent have been regrouped into a new formation called Canadian Troops in Northwest Europe, it was learned Thursday night.

For the first time since the war ended, the Canadian army command troop movements now will be continent-bound rather than toward Britain, as Brig. A. B. Connelley of Wolfville, N.S., moves to bring the 2,000 Canadian troops in Europe up to the 2,300 authorized for the new establishment.

The breakup of the Amsterdam staff Thursday ends the story of a unit unique in the Canadian army. Composed largely of volunteers, the unit considered that the worst possible punishment was to be sent home.

A soldier wanted to marry, the commanding officer did everything possible to help him. Thirty marriages were performed in a two-month period.

A small rear party is staying behind to supervise arrangements for the trial of Pte. Stefan Kolesar of Edmonton by Dutch civilian authorities on a charge of armed robbery with violence.

Kolesar, acquitted three weeks ago of murdering Louis Stork, Dutch air force sergeant, will be tried by Dutch courts.

U.S. Intelligence Head Raps Soviet Spy Moves in Canada

NEW YORK (CP) -- Russia is entitled to establish defense in depth but the United States is concerned "whether the outer line of defense Russia takes in the Gulf or the Atlantic ocean," Maj.-Gen. William J. Donovan, who headed the first intelligence service set up by the United States in Russia.

Gen. Donovan in an address to a Canadian club luncheon called Russia for her espionage activities in Canada and declared: "Subverting of a citizen of the country by another country is not done by a country professing to be an ally."

Without naming Russia, he said that the need for a central intelligence system in a country was shown by what one country had sought to do in obtaining information in Canada, describing this as the type of activity which an enemy would seek to carry out.

The head of the Office of Strategic Services declared that the whole western hemisphere needed the closest collaboration for defense. It was perfectly understandable that Russia should seek a defense in depth. But the United States needed a similar depth of defense; our outer line of defense is Britain and western Europe.

Knowles, Mitchell in Brief Flurry Over Answer on Printers' Strike

OTTAWA (CP) -- Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.), Winnipeg North Centre and Labor Minister Mitchell Thursday took part in a brief exchange in the commons. Mr. Knowles rose on a question of privilege asking the minister to withdraw a statement he had made Wednesday in reference to a dispute between the International Typographical union (A.F.L.) and the Winnipeg Tribune.

Mr. Mitchell had said the union had insisted on its own terms of an agreement and in so doing it was in conflict with the federal labor code.

Speaker Fauteux ruled that Mr. Knowles' objection was not a matter of privilege but the discussion brought from the minister the comment that Mr. Knowles was "playing low politics."

Mr. Knowles was promptly on his feet with another objection to the minister's reference.

"I will withdraw that and call it petty politics," Mr. Mitchell said.

Political Freedom of Air Policy Probed by House Radio Committee

OTTAWA (CP) -- The commons radio committee Thursday discussed freedom of the air for all political views. Davidson Dunton, C.C.F. chairman, declared that the committee felt strongly that equitable opportunity should be given by all Canadian stations for the expression of all shades of opinion.

John H. McIntyre (Prog. Cons. - Stanstead) asked specifically if a private operator could be forced against his will to carry a broadcast which disseminated either the Communist or Fascist doctrine.

Mr. Dunton said the operator was conceded certain discretion and given credit for common sense but he must carry out the broad principles of radio regulations which called for freedom of the air with equitable opportunity for all political opinions.

Bread Rationing for Britons Seen Virtually Certain by New Minister

but young-looking group moved forward, and Britain's new minister of food, held up a cream-covered green-page booklet before a press conference Thursday and explained it contained ration coupons for bread. He took the British cabinet is virtually certain to decide by the end of the month to take this one rationing step which it managed to avoid through the war years.

Mr. Strachey admitted bread rationing would reduce Britain's daily calorie intake somewhat but it was apparently inevitable to avoid shortages and dislocation and more importantly to help in the relief of the rest of Europe.

"Very simply and with obvious sincerity he said, 'I don't think we can say a bigger proof of our inter-nation good faith and I know the British people feel that very deeply. We want to feel we have a completely clean bill as far as Europe is concerned. We took this decision simply as something we ought to do.'"

Of his conversations in Ottawa before he came here he would say only, "I have been talking with the Canadians and we shall go on talking wheat."

Russians Propose Student Exchange

OTTAWA (CP) -- Plans for annual exchanges of Canadian and Russian students to improve relations between Canada and her powerful northern neighbor will be taken back to the Soviet by three visiting Russian newspapermen who Thursday concluded a brief sojourn in this country.

Konstantin Mikhailovich, noted Soviet writer, told members of the parliamentary press gallery he considered such exchanges of the greatest importance in bringing about a better understanding between the Canadian and Russian peoples and said he would promote them upon his return to Russia.

Accompanying Mr. Simonov were Ilya Ehrenberg, of the editorial staff of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, and Gen. Mikhail Tomashov, Belokhonor, military editor of the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

The Russian newspapermen told their Canadian counterparts they felt they had received a "cold" reception in Canada.

Title Fight Called Fraud and Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) -- A fiery little Irishman from Brooklyn, representative Donald E. O'Toole, Thursday waded into the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight with oral punches, calling it a "fraud and scandal."

In New York, Promoter Mike Jacobs said in response to Mr. O'Toole's tirade:

"Before the fight, O'Toole's office called to see if we had any complimentary tickets to see it. I turned them down. So now he's no longer a fighter."

Mr. O'Toole quickly denied that he sought free seats.

"I wouldn't know how to get in touch with Jacobs if I wanted to," he told reporters.

"Furthermore, I had a chance to attend the fight as a guest of my law firm in New York and I turned it down."

Later, O'Toole announced he would sue Jacobs for $100,000 for his remark about tickets.

"Jacobs is accusing me of extortion," he said, "and for that I am instructed by New York attorneys to file suit for $100,000 damages."

He had appeared Wednesday.

"And I have a world of fun in Bill Veeck, Jr.'s idea of a bet on the possible purchase of the Indians," said Hope.

"It'll give me my first chance to yell with muscles," and said it seemed a good time to break into the sports world "before" wins summer.

Third Straight Pitching Win For Cardinals' Leo Douzich

Big question in City Senior Baseball league circles after what happened at Benfres park Thursday night is: "When will Leo Douzich be stopped?"

The ex-Junior loop twirler came up with his third straight win of the season as he elbowed the league-leading Cards to a 4-1 triumph over the second-place Braves in a 20-year old righthander appeared needed for plenty of trouble, the opposition getting to him for all their runs in the first couple of frames. One he adjusted his sights there was nothing to it. In the last four innings just 12 Exs had a look at his slants.

Portage la Prairie's willow Bill Whyte pitched right along with Douzich to make it one of the best mound duels of the season. He was touched for five singles, one more than Exs collected off Douzich. He striking out three over in the seventh when Doug Lane and Harry Ornest reached him for safe knocks and Lane came around.

Top hitters of the engagement were rival managers John Galvin, Jerry and Bert Oliver. Each had a two-for-four night at the plate. Ornest stole one base to tie Exs Art Flores at 13 for the league leadership in this department.

As a result of their triumph Cards increased their lead in the standings to a game and a half over Exs.

Veteran Harry Kinloch Qualifies For City Singles Tennis Finals

Harry Kinloch, six times city tennis champion in the '30's, Thursday earned another crack at the title as he continued an unbeaten tournament. The 37-year-old baseliner took to the No. 1 court at Glenora to score a hard fought three set triumph over lanky Bruce Sangster (former University of Alberta star. Score was 12-10, 6-1, 3-1).

Kinloch meets the winner of the Andy Purcell and Johnny Stott semi-final for the crown. Purcell and Stott are drawn for 3:30 p.m., Friday, at Glenora.

Pair of Purcell and Stott Edmonds has worked his way to the finals of the men's doubles event. Hal Richard and Stott after four strenuous sets. The winners started slowly to drop the opening set, 4-6. Following this they were in complete command to capture three sets running, 6-4, 8-6, 6-4.

Helen Wolfe and Sophie Mighall, strong civil service combine, advanced to the final of the ladies' doubles by outlasting Sheila Toshman and Peggy Molloy, 6-3, 10-8. They tackle Beattie McAvoy and Nora Collier in the wind-up.

Helen Kelly is a Realist in cup finalist as a result of a 6-2, 6-4 conquest of Miss Collier. Partnerships of Kinloch - Isabel Hooper, Jimmy Hoyle - S. Mighall, Purcell - B. McAvoy and Stott - John Scrimge are still alive in the mixed doubles.

John Ducey to Handle Indicator In Cards - Delisle Saturday Tilt

John Ducey, the umpire who deserted the man-in-blue role in favor of the promotion end of baseball at the first of this season, will be behind the plate when Army and Navy Cards tackle Delisle Tigers at Benfres park Saturday night. This was the substance of an announcement made Thursday by George Mackintosh, president of the City Senior Baseball league.

"Return of Ducey in an inspiring role is in no way a reflection on the work of the men who have been officiating in the league to this point," Mr. Mackintosh made clear. "It's just that Ducey has the urge to more or less keep his hand in."

Visit of the Delisle aggregation, managed by hockeyist Max Bentley, is arousing keen interest in the expected that the team will include five of the clan Bentley, with the emphasis on brothers Max, Doug and Reg. Manager Max, leading scorer in the National Hockey league last season, has appeared at Benfres park on a number of previous occasions. Generally he has impressed as a capable, hard-hitting infielder.

It's agreed that if the balance of the Delisle squad measures up to the quality of the head man the trio of local clubs is in for a scrappy weekend.

Cubs lead off against the invaders in a game slated for 3:30 p.m. Saturday. A second Saturday tilt, timed for 6:45 p.m., will, as previously mentioned, pit Cards against Tigers. Sunday, at 1:00 p.m., it will be the turn of the Exs to try conclusions with the Bentleys.

Games come in the standing of the City Senior circuit.

Average Briton Regards Russia Only Part Of Daily Troubles

By David M. Nichol
LONDON.—The ordinary Briton and apparently also his country's political leaders - is less concerned about the possibilities of serious trouble with the Soviet Union than his counterpart in most other western Allied countries.

It is difficult to single out specific evidence to support such a conclusion, but the atmosphere here is quite different than the writer found recently either in mid-western United States or Canada.

In Chicago, for example, people were jittery from the impact of nationwide strikes at home and recurring bitter clashes abroad, principally between Great Britain and Russia.

The prospects of a third world war were openly being talked about in almost every circle.

A few weeks earlier, in Ottawa, your correspondent saw what still remains the most fiction-like, real-life spy inquiry of modern times: The passport, "Hew's Bible," seems to best typify its character.

It served, however, to let Canadians thinking as to Canada's importance of defending the northern approaches to the American continent, with their invaluable uranium deposits in the Arctic circle. It was certainly a factor in spending joint United States-Canadian defence staff plans.

There again, war seemed just around the next international crisis, in the view of the ordinary citizen.

Nothing which has occurred since, particularly the aerial exchanges between members of the Pacific conference of foreign ministers, has in any way eased the war-threat tension. Yet, here the feeling is somewhat subtly different.

This was evident in Foreign Secretary E. Bevin's speech to the commons recently. There was no knocking under to Soviet demands. He made it quite clear that Britain would compromise only up to a point, beyond that it would not.

Bevin said bluntly that he thought Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's approach unjust and unfair, but Bevin's statement included no gratuitous insults. It was an open invitation to the Soviet Union to mend its ways and again join the "club" of persons seeking peace.

Almost the only "news" in the lengthy report was the warmth with which the Foreign Secretary welcomed the United States proposals for a 25-year guarantee of Germany's disarmament by the four major powers.

Perhaps one reason for the Briton's attitude is the extent to which his country has been depleted in two great wars. He has grasped better than most others the fact that no one wins the modern war, that the victor only loses less than the defeated.

He expects others, who have suffered similarly or worse, such as the Soviets, to understand the same elementary principles.

The average Briton is too occupied by such domestic needs as food, fuel and housing to consider Russia as more than part of his daily troubles - no more trying than many others.

Among Conservatives, here, moreover, there is some curious logic in one breath they admit the impossibility of a peaceful settlement without the Soviet Union; in the next they urge a settlement for western Europe if Russia continues its obstructive policies.

Only the Communist Daily Worker renews the accusation of an Anglo-American "bloc." Bevin said it does not exist as such, but he referred to the common language and traditions, which link the two powers.

The real problem, he said, is bridging the gap between two worlds. Atomic energy, he implied, has re-created "Killing" East and west must of necessity meet and on a friendly, co-operative basis.

BABS IBBOTSON was just two weeks old when she last saw her daddy, Ralph Ibbotson. Now he's back from overseas for good and both father and daughter look very happy.

Peacetime Atomic Energy May Unlock Many Secrets

WASHINGTON (NANA)—Scientists here believe that the utilization of radioactive isotopes, by-products of the atomic bomb piles, may make it possible to unlock many secrets—even that of creating life itself.

Plans for large-scale production and distribution of the isotopes, announced by the war department, promise to be a landmark in the history of biological and medical sciences.

Only a few weeks ago Surgeon-General Thomas Parran of the United States public health service, remarked to a friend that he considered the coming availability of these substances potentially as important for medicine as Pasteur's original discovery of the germ origin of disease.

Some of these radioactive isotopes have been known for the past 10 years and their importance recognized; but it has been possible to produce them only in such minute quantities that little use could be made of them. Only with the experiments leading to the atomic bomb were means developed for making some of them in very large quantities, and hundreds of others were produced for the first time.

For the present, according to the war department, the distribution of the isotopes will be entirely for research purposes. Some of them may have immediate potentialities as "medicines." One is radioactive phosphorus which already is the standard treatment for certain forms of the malignant blood disease, leukemia, quite similar to cancer.

Officers of the Manhattan district project which produced the atomic bomb and their scientific advisory committee feel that for the present the possibilities of obtaining new knowledge of biological processes far outweigh probably pernicious and dangerous practical applications.

Isotopes promise to serve as microscopes for observing the most intricate and delicate processes of life in action. Life is essentially an electrochemical phenomenon in which 30 or more elements play some part. Some of the most essential functions only in extremely minute amounts. Iodine is a good example. Without it, higher forms of life cannot endure. Yet its behavior in the system is quite obscure.

Probably by far the most important of the new substances made available is radioactive carbon. This element is the cornerstone of all life on earth—for, essentially, every life process is a chemical reaction involving carbon.

Most important of all is photo-graphic, the process by which the substance of plants is built up by utilizing the energy of the sun.

As not too fantastic a surmise, say scientists here, that carbon 14, the radioactive form will unlock secrets which will show how to carry on laboratory or even industrial photosynthesis, may even make it possible to produce life itself.

CLEVER

I think there are more clever women every day. More women who know the value of time—who refuse to be drudges—who let their heads serve their hands, time and money.

Clever women are always on the look-out for labor-saving devices to shorten working hours and to lengthen the hours of leisure. Clever women put forth every effort to prevent illness. They use antiseptics freely to protect their family from infection.

I think the clever woman today uses FOR-ALL (formerly Clever-ALL) the modern household aid. FOR-ALL on laundry day safely bleaches linens and cottons without wear and tear from rubbing. FOR-ALL safely removes stains. The clever woman knows how effective FOR-ALL is in banishing ugly marks from sinks and bathtubs, leaving them HOSPITAL CLEAN. The clever woman uses 10-drops of FOR-ALL to a glass of water as a gargle, and as a first-aid wash for cuts and wounds.

The clever woman reads the label on the big, low-priced FOR-ALL bottle to learn the correct and safe proportions for all the uses of FOR-ALL (formerly Clever-ALL).

German Officers Assist Compiling War History

WASHINGTON (NANA)—Approximately 25 of Germany's army officers—division commanders and assistants—on the European front, are at work near Frankfurt checking their own records and memories against American records under the direction of a group of United States army historians who are preparing a definitive history of the operations on the Continent.

They have been gathered from prisoner of war camps all over Germany. Each will write a narrative account of the unit he himself commanded. For the most part these men have been highly co-operative, according to officers of the historical section. Most of them are professional soldiers whose primary interests are in the strategy and tactics of the war.

A professional viewpoint and they have welcomed an opportunity to get the records straight for the history of future students of military history.

No War Criminals
In very few instances has there been occasion to doubt their statements. U.S. officers claim, although naturally they are extremely cautious when they deal with places where atrocities have been recorded. But none of them has been cited as war criminals to date.

The experiment started immediately after the Ardennes campaign. The military moves and counter-moves were very confusing to the army historians who tried to compile a record. It happened that there were easily available a half dozen of Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt's staff officers who were brought from different prison camps to Paris to help in compiling reports. This procedure was so successful that it was decided to comb all American P.W. set-ups for enemy officers who would be in a position to check on other phases of the European operations.

The object was to obtain complete accuracy in the definitive war history. The campaigns were so confusing, however, that accuracy was impossible without testing every possible source. Division records differed from regimental records, and these from battalion records. Often company records were quite at variance with stories of individual soldiers.

In a recently prepared official history of the Omaha Beachhead Operation, for example, hospitals of Washington and Virginia were combined for soldiers who took part in the landings. When possible these men were brought to Washington and their stories checked.

against what records were available. This resulted in some decorations being awarded men who up to then had been forgotten.

As soon as the present group of German generals and other staff officers at Frankfurt have told all they know, it is planned to bring in another group from P.W. camps, and as on until the complete enemy story is obtained.

The work at Frankfurt is in charge of Col. Harold E. Potter.

Why Grow Old?

Actress Angela Greene does a bit of research on the word calorie and what it means. Naturally she knows what too many calories would do for her figure. Do you?

By Josephine Lowman
ALL WELL-INFORMED moderns are dictionary wise, and believe me, the word calorie is one of the most important ones in the book as far as health and beauty are concerned.

If you will look calorie up in your word guide you will find something like this: "A calorie is a unit of heat. The quantity of heat necessary to raise the temperature of a kilogram of water one degree Centigrade. Unit of energy supplied by food. One ounce of sugar will produce about a hundred sugar calories. Quantity of food capable of producing such an amount of energy."

That sounds a little involved but we do know one thing! Too many calories, certainly put the heat on us and ruin our dreams of slim loveliness and greatest attractiveness and vitality. Only during the past few years have women been aware of calorie counting and even now few of them have a comprehensive knowledge of which foods supply the greatest number of these small heat units.

Actually a calorie is a heat unit rather than a food unit but it has been found that the food we eat supplies the body with energy and heat in varying amounts for use in carrying on life's activities. Therefore, we have food units equivalent to heat units. When we consume more food than we require for activity and heat, the remainder is sadly stored as fat.

FOODS VARY GREATLY in their calorie count. For instance, one ounce of fat gives you about 265 calories, which is more than twice the number in other foods, namely proteins and carbohydrates. This is why fats are cut low in the reducing diet. Many women overlook this fact and use too many fats while conscientiously leaving off the much maligned baked potato or the luxury of sugar in coffee, which they could afford if they were calorie wise.

It would be a great mistake to plan any diet, especially your reducing diet, by the calorie standard only. You must keep your eyes on protective foods which assure you health. Happily many of these essential foods which are high in minerals and vitamins are also low in calories. Fresh fruits and green vegetables and salads are very low in calorie count and yet high in protective value. The same thing is true of skimmed milk, lean meat, whole grain products and eggs, if the trimmings are left off and they are prepared properly. In almost every instance it is the fat which is added in cooking or afterwards, which makes them anathema to the reducer.

WE MIGHT WELL think of ourselves as engines in skins. We must keep the machine in good condition with protective foods. We must supply it with sufficient fuel for heat and activity but there is no need to add a rumble seat or balloon tires to the picture!

If you wish to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36, to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

BLACKHEADS

Blackheads and pimples are the result of a clogged pore. They are caused by a combination of factors, but two main causes are more important. First two more pores on a face are clogged, and more sebum is secreted, and the skin is not kept clean and clear.

Chamber Groups Discuss Activities

Continuation of the "Jaycee Clinic" five separate discussion groups, established during the morning business period, marked the afternoon session of the 11th annual convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada in the Memorial hall Thursday afternoon.

Each of the groups gave consideration to such matters as community activities and well development activities, before adjourning early in the afternoon to attend, with their wives and friends, a specially-arranged barbecue at an Edmonton district farm.

HIGHLIGHTING Friday morning's agenda was the election of officers, which was to follow reports of committees on credentials, resolutions and national policy. Henry Kearns, president of the United States Junior Chamber addressed a luncheon meeting at the Macdonald hotel while golf games and bowling occupied the afternoon.

Adding color to the business meetings Friday morning were the loudly-patterned "native" sports shirts and "leis" flowered neckties worn by the delegates from Honolulu. Another group of delegates, those from Saskatoon, favored white sun-helmets, with "Saskatoon" printed across the front. An Edmonton delegate showed up at the Thursday luncheon in complete Indian regalia and carrying a tomahawk.

AN INNOVATION of this convention is the habit adopted by the various chairmen of speaking a few words in the French tongue in introducing to the floor delegates from Quebec.

FOOD LUXURIES SCARCE OTTAWA, June 20. (CP) - Canada's shop counters and consumer pantries, though still bare of most pre-war food luxuries, continue to display adequate supplies of essential staples.

The Board reported today in a summary of the food supply position. Dairy products have shown the most outstanding recent improvement, with production increases marked up and lower butter prices general across Canada.

Vandals Destroy Two Bird Houses

Three tiny Edmonton families are homeless today, thanks to vandals who took the trouble to scale a 40-foot tree, tear down a bird house and destroy it. A second bird house on another nearby tree was also knocked from its lofty perch and smashed. It is believed thoughtless boys are responsible.

THE VANDALISM took place in the early hours of the morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Wetters, 9740 105 street. The two bird dwellings housed three families of wrens, the larger of the two being shared by two groups, due perhaps to the present housing shortage.

It'll Take a Real Puncher To Beat Joe, Says Conn

By BILLY CONN

(Written exclusively for International News Service and The Edmonton Bulletin. World copyright. All rights reserved. Reprint in whole or part strictly prohibited.)

NEW YORK, June 21, — (INS) — If Joe Louis continues to fight until he is beaten, he will lose his heavyweight championship to a puncher.

I am convinced, now that it is all over, that no light hitter will defeat the Brown Bomber. I learned early in the fight that I had nothing to hurt him with. It wasn't until then that I started to worry. If Louis is to be beaten he has to be hurt. I jabbed him a few times and a couple of times I nailed him with right hands. Everything I had was on those punches, but nothing seemed to bother Joe. He just kept stalking me as he tried to set up the knock out. I knew that I had to keep moving. Against Louis it is fatal to retreat on a straight line. So I moved from left to right and circled him. I knew it was dangerous to be caught on the ropes. On the whole I succeeded pretty well in keeping off the ropes.

What I did or didn't do, didn't matter in the end. I had hoped he would tire. I think I may have believed that Dr. Vincent Nardiello, the Boxing Commission's doctor, was right when he found that I was in better physical condition than Louis.

AS FAR AS I'M concerned Louis is a very healthy young man, even if he has high blood pressure and is 32 years of age, which is supposed to be old for an athlete.

At the time I was waiting for old Joe to get tired, I was getting tired myself. I was a weary old man of 28 going out for the fatal eighth. Of course everybody knows what happened to me in that round. It could have been worse. I wasn't killed. As a matter of fact I wasn't badly hurt. The only thing that suffered any permanent damage was my pride. Before the fight I was so sure I could win that I never even thought what I'd do if I were beaten.

THE DECISION to retire was forced on me by Joe Louis. He decided my future with his fists. After Joe was through with me, I knew that I was through as a fighter.

Louis says I was a good fighter when he met me in 1941. I agree with him. I also agree with him when he says our second fight was one of the easiest of his career. In fact it is pretty hard not to agree with Louis when he's talking about boxing. He doesn't have to ask any questions. He knows all the answers.

Five years ago I gave up the fight - heavyweight title to fight Joe Louis. I was my peak then and, I think a pretty good fighter. I know I was beating good fighters in those days—Fred Apostoli, Solly Kreiger, Mello Bettina, Gus Lesnevitch, all champions, and heavyweights such as Bob Pastor, Gus Dorazio and Lee Savoldi.

IF THEY WERE STILL around, fighting in the form they were when I beat them, I doubt if I would defeat any of them today. I just haven't anything to beat them with. That's not an alibi for what happened the other night. When I was at my peak I didn't beat Louis, so I have no excuses now.

I think the army took something out of me. You live differently when you're in uniform. The hours are different and you don't much care what happens. Of course Louis went through what I went through, but you can't apply ordinary rules to my friend Joe.

Louis is not an ordinary fighter. In my opinion he's the greatest fighter of all time. Of course I didn't see the old champions. But I can't imagine a better all round performer in the ring than the man who knocked me out in eight rounds.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that a boxer will always beat a puncher. I'm a boxer and I don't agree. Louis will knock the boxer out at the box every time he starts. Of course Joe is a pretty fair boxer himself. He doesn't move in with lightning speed on his feet. He just keeps shuffling in and crowding an opponent.

Louis punches faster than any man I have ever faced in the ring. He hit me with right hands that I saw coming. But they were coming so fast that I was not quick enough to slip under them. And when he hit me, I knew I was hit. There's a lump on my head, cuts on both my eyes and also on my nose. Joe just kept hanging away and every time he touched me he hurt. His body blows took the spring out of my legs. His blows to the jaw numbed my brain. Even when I blocked a punch with my arms it hurt.

I HAVEN'T SEEN a heavyweight I think has a chance to defeat Louis. His decision not to fight in September was forced on him. There just isn't a challenger in sight.

The top man is Tami Mauriello. I suppose Tami is too easy to hit. The same is true of Bruce Woodcock, the British champion. If Bruce can't take Mauriello's punch—Tami knocked him out—I know he can't stand up under Louis' punches. Jersey Joe Walcott, who beat Lee Oma, is an elderly counter puncher. Oma knocked out my old rival, Gus Lesnevitch. Maybe Mike Jacobs can think of somebody who'll give Joe a fight, but I can't.

I'm convinced too that nobody capable of beating Louis can be developed before 1948. In other words he's a cinch to be champion for two more years at least. Louis

By Joe Louis

World's Heavyweight Champion
(Written exclusively for International News Service and The Edmonton Bulletin. World copyright 1946. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

NEW YORK, June 21.—My left jab and my legs beat Billy Conn Wednesday night. Of course, those two rights and the left hook in the eighth helped, but my left jab and my legs did the trick.

FOR FIVE YEARS everyone had told me and written that Billy Conn was the best boxer I ever saw. That he was better than Jim Corbett, or Gene Tunney or any of the famous boxers. I talked all that seriously and when I talked with Manie Seamon, my trainer, we talked about boxing, not hitting.

My left has always been pretty heavy, but I guess the public and the writers didn't think it meant much to me. That I just depended on wading in and using my right. But my left jab was the starter against Max Schmeling and my punch that beat Max Baer and my left jab was the punch that beat Billy Conn up the first time.

I KNEW THAT BILLY Conn would run and circle from the bell and that my job was to jab and poke and peek and try to get him into a corner or against the ropes. But Billy's a cat. He didn't fall for my feigning. But he finally felt the power behind my left jab, when I was out-boxing him. I believe, and then he came down off his tip-toes.

That was what I was looking for. Then the two rights and my left hook. But the credit goes to the jab. I'm proud of the fact that everyone wrote that I out-boxed Billy Conn.

No one can over-estimate the job that my legs did in beating him. We had figured the fight out perfectly and we knew that I would take two strong legs to keep chasing Billy all night long. If it went that far, that is why I ran more than 400 miles in training. I know why I shuffled and jiggled through so many rounds of sparring in the ring.

I KNEW THAT EXTRA weight had been added to my thighs and calves, and I knew that my years in the army had rusted my legs.

as far as ring work would go. There was no way for me to tell whether Billy's legs were the same speedy things they were five years ago. I thought they would be.

In my camp we didn't trust my legs. There was always the thought that they might give out chasing Billy and then he would fit around like a mosquito and take away the championship on points. But my legs were as strong as ever. As a matter of fact I think that my legs and all of me felt stronger than ever when the knockout punch came. I could have fought all night.

STILL DON'T KNOW what was in Billy Conn's mind when he did that. Surely he must know that two shaking fists in front of his face didn't serve as any defence.

I WILL NEVER GET over the fight that Billy fought. It was a silly way to do it if seriously thought he had a chance to win the championship of the world. We all knew that Billy knew the chance was to keep away from Billy for the first ten rounds, testing

Un-Nationalistic Canadian Pride Urged by Speaker at JC Meet

Those Canadians who imitate

Americans to the extent "you'd think they really were Americans," and others who "get carried away with so much nostalgia for Great Britain that they make King George look like a piker" were scored in favor of the... who are attempting to develop an un-nationalistic Canadian pride, in an address delivered in the Macdonald hotel Thursday night.

THE SPEAKER was John Fisher of Toronto, CBC commentator, who addressed delegates to the 11th annual convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada which is being held in the Memorial hall, this week. The parley concludes Saturday.

Introduced to the gathering by Bud Lynch of Winnipeg, Mr. Fisher called for a banishing of what he termed the "puritan blight" which he said was putting to seed the good ideas of progressive-minded Canadians.

The speaker asserted that Canadians have been "completely seduced" by the bright lights of Broadway and a nostalgia for Britain, with the result that the proper development of Canada had been overlooked.

"WITH OUR TIES of blood, sentiment and affinity to Great Britain, the United States and France, if certain people in Quebec would get the kind out of their eyes, the eleven million people of Canada could have the most wonderful opportunities in the world," he declared. He added the warning that with a new neighbor on the north, Russia, Canada would be in the path of the next world conflagration. "It's up to us to get into the world councils and fight with everything we have to make a better world," he said.

The people of the Dominion could not do this if they were divided at home, Mr. Fisher continued, as he put the challenge for a pride in Canada that would be something other than a selfish nationalism.

MR. FISHER URGED members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to take as their projects the rounding up of Canadian historic treasures, the cleaning-up of Canada's tourist industry and the boosting of distinctive Canadian ways of living, particularly in the matter of Canadian foods and Canadian clothes.

With a united Canada behind them, the country's representatives could become a tremendous power for good in the one world which has been brought about by modern machines and science.

his strength and then stand up and try to fight when I was supposed to get tired.

But we never figured Billy would go half way through my championship fight just running backwards. You don't win the championship—mine at least—that way.

And when Billy Conn started shaking his two fists in front of his face like a ballet dancer after I'd touch him with a left jab, I thought right back to Lou Nova and his Yoga stuff and that comic punch. That's exactly what Conn reminded me of. When he pulled it the first time I think he stepped back and stared at him. I was that surprised.

I STILL DON'T KNOW what was in Billy Conn's mind when he did that. Surely he must know that two shaking fists in front of his face didn't serve as any defence. It's a mystery to me and always will be. I think of such such antics in the middle of a fight. Billy Conn was a picture fighter five years ago and I saw and founder of the present Canadian Legion in Alberta, William Irwin is leaving the city at the end of the month to take up residence in Victoria. Poor health of Mrs. Irwin is prompting the change.

A RESIDENT of Edmonton for 45 years, Mrs. Irwin has been an active figure in Canadian Legion work. On May 2, 1917, he helped to organize the Legion in Calgary. For two years he held the posts of Dominion representative to the Canadian Legion and president of the Alberta branch. Five times he was named president of the Edmonton branch.

A veteran of World War One, he holds a life membership in the British Legion. He served 15 years as a member of the Western Canada boxing Commission and held the post of chairman on the first Western Canada Commission.

VALUABLE TIME LOT
Total time lost by American workers due to accidents on and off the job in 1945 amounted to 415,000, 000 man-days, or the equivalent of eleven million men working nearly 1,400,000 workers.

the picture. Wednesday night he was a blurred print.

I know that the way that I can be beaten is for the other man to make me back up and get a little off balance.

That was what Billy Conn did in the eleventh and twelfth rounds the last time we figured he would do the same Wednesday night. Either Billy forgot or he couldn't, or he got the wrong advice from his corner. I guess we will never know just what went on in Billy Conn's mind.

I DIDN'T HAVE ANY thoughts during the fight. I started out slowly and realize now that the first two or three rounds must have been terrible to watch. But I still had in mind the fact that Billy could punch and had to take it easy and not take any chances. That is why I just peeked away and my right hand out of action. I didn't want to open myself up in case he would bounce on, like he used to, and clip me one.

Mannie Seamon and Larry Amadee in my corner were puzzled at the end of the first round. They didn't know what Billy Conn was doing. I asked if I ought to step in fast, take a punch or two in the face and try to beat Billy out. They both warned against that. They figured Billy and Johnny Ray, his manager, were up to some trick or something.

BUT HE DIDN'T DO anything out of the way in the second and just before the third I asked again if I could stop fooling around and put a little more real action and I ought not to try yet. To wait and see what on earth Billy had up his sleeve.

I didn't ask Manie or Amadee between the third and fourth. I hit him several good left jabs and one right to the body, and once got in a neutral corner, but he slipped away. And in the fifth I went after him again, figuring he couldn't hurt me and realizing more and more that he wasn't half as fast as he used to be.

I HIT HIM TWO GOOD rights in the body in the round and knew then I could get over the killer in some time real soon. And I was getting stronger every moment. I can honestly say that I never felt better in a ring than in the seventh and eighth rounds Wednesday night.

It was like taking pot shots at a clay pigeon in that eighth round. Billy was no longer fast. I cut him under the eye. The first time I ever cut him with a right, and he got over the right cross and the left uppercut and the left hook and as he used to be.

And they got to take my championship away from me. I am not giving it up without a fight.
